- What is the cost to play everything on a machine? Minimum buy-in is $54 and includes one of every game and warm-up.
- Can I play both paper and a machine? Yes, most players play both paper and machine.
- Is there any advantage to playing a machine? Yes, the machine can hold more cards.
- What is a super game and what does it cost? Super Games are insured games that have the potential to win a big prize. We have 2 in every session (regular and special). The Super Block Of Nine and the Super Double Action both have a top prize of $10,000. If not won, then 10 more numbers are called. Each number pays a smaller amount and if not won, then a consolation prize is awarded.
- What is a warm-up game? Warm-up games are the first games played before the main session begins. They have a very easy pattern and the payouts are smaller.
- What is a jackpot pack? A jackpot pack is a pack that pays the highest prize amounts for that session.
- What is a buy-in pack? A buy-in pack plays more games than the jackpot pack but pays less. All players have to have a buy-in pack to play the main Bingo sessions.
- Are you limited on how much you can buy? Some paper only special sessions have a minimum amount and a limit to how much you can buy. This makes it fair for all and gives everyone an equal chance. Regular sessions are unlimited.
- Is the caller on a timer? Yes, a timer is used for Bingo. Warm-ups are called at 7 seconds and regular sessions are called at 12-14 seconds. Special sessions, like the $20,000 or $40,000, are called at 18 seconds.
